"When people are steeped in self-delusion, they are usually the last to find out."